The modular comfort bench system consists of a 120 cm wide bench, a 65 cm wide seating element and a round corner element. All modules can be placed individually or flexibly combined to create straight bench solutions with a matching corner area. The high-quality, multi-layer sandwich foam with a firm foam base and a softer upper foam layer ensures consistently high seating comfort. Moulded foam elements in the back support a comfortable seating posture, while the additional upholstery wadding creates an even and comfortable surface. Thanks to the wide range of materials and colours from the GO IN fabric concept, the bench system can be individually adapted to different interior design concepts. As the backs are also fully upholstered in genuine material, all modules can be freely positioned in the room. Robust, slender feet made of powder-coated steel ensure a secure stand and a lightweight appearance. For permanently connected combinations, steel grid connectors are available to prevent the individual modules from shifting. Custom sizes available upon request.

• Modular and flexible: All elements can be placed individually or combined into a bench solution with a corner element
• High seating comfort: Multi-layer sandwich foam and moulded back cushions ensure comfortable seating
• Individually customisable: Wide range of materials and colours from the GO IN fabric concept
